Total fourth quarter performance was muted at -0.04%, this represented a 46bps improvement relative to Q3 and 31bps improvement relative to Q2 performance. Total return for the calendar year was -0.62%, comprised of an annual income return of 3.72% that outpaced capital depreciation by 31bps. 0.93% of negative performance was attributed to the mark to market of the Fund's mortgage financing as bond yields have been retracting since Q4 of 2023.

The Bank of Canada made cuts to the overnight rate twice in Q4 (to 3.25%) and would appear poised to continue on this path toward a terminal rate of ~2.5%. Despite the unknown impacts of a changing political and macro economic landscape, a reduced cost of capital should provide tailwinds for improved investment activity and performance as we head into 2025.

Investment Activity

The evergreen objective of management is to constantly evaluate the existing state of the portfolio and seek opportunities to optimize the asset mix and overall performance. This strategic initiative requires a disciplined and, at times, patient approach to portfolio construction. The Fund has been active in 2024 in divesting of non-core assets while focusing on the development of new long-term holdings.

Three assets were sold in Q4. Office buildings in Calgary, AB and Houston, TX and an older-generation industrial portfolio consisting of three buildings in Mississauga, ON.

Leasing Update

The overall Canadian office market witnessed an annual positive net absorption total of 2.6 million sq. ft. across 2024. This is the first year of positive net absorption for the office market since 2019 (Source: CBRE), and a welcomed signal that the depressed sector is recovering.

Purdy's Wharf is an iconic part of Halifax's striking skyline. It holds the honour of being Atlantic Canada's first LEED EB Gold Certified building thanks to extensive environmental BOMA BEST initiatives. Management has completed a series of extensive capital projects to update the building standard and to attract and retain tenants. 107K sq. ft. of new leasing has recently been completed, improving the overall occupancy by 15% across the complex.

Forward Outlook

As we look ahead to 2025, it is timely to recall that Fund values are reflective of real time market conditions by virtue of the robust quarterly external appraisal valuation process. Already realized capital adjustments ensure the Fund will benefit from real time investment metric changes, as the cost of capital declines and fundamentals improve.

Keep an eye out for the soon to be release second installment of 'Building Blocks', our new podcast which aims to dive deeper into market trends and ongoing Fund activities.
